Pavle Dundjer Named All-American

Senior midfielder named a Third Team All-America by NSCAA/adidas.

Dec. 17, 2007

Chicago, Ill.- UIC senior midfielder Pavle Dundjer (Belgrade, Serbia/Zemunaska Gimnazija) capped off his stellar collegiate career as an All-American when the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) announced that Dundjer made the 2007 NSCAA/adidas All-America Third Team.

This is the first All-America honor for Dundjer, who was a three-time All-Region selection and the first-ever four-time All-Horizon League First Team honoree.

The senior co-captain scored five goals and assisted on three others for 13 points during a 2007 campaign in which he helped the Flames win the Horizon League Tournament for the first time in seven years and advance to the NCAA Tournament Elite Eight for the first time in school history.

Dundjer finished his four-year UIC career with 24 goals, 13 assists and 61 points.

He becomes the third individual from UIC to earn All-America accolades. Eric Lukin was a two-time All-America, earning Second Team honors in 1999 and Third Team accolades in 2000, while Tonci Skroce was a Second Team All-America last season.
