Subject: RE: Book Chapter- Permission Request

Dear Larissa Smith,

Thank you for your recent Springer Nature permissions enquiry. Authors may reuse their manuscript's Version of Record, in whole or in part, in their own thesis, without the need for further permission. Authors must properly cite the published manuscript in their thesis according to current citation standards and include the following acknowledgement: 'Reproduced with permission from Springer Nature'.

If your affiliated academic institution requires a licence for the reuse of the content in your thesis, please search for your chapter on link.springer.com. At the end of the chapter page, you will find the 'Rights and Permissions' link; clicking on this will redirect you to our CCC RightsLink service where you may input the details of your request. On the order entry page, please ensure you select 'reuse in a dissertation/thesis' as your type of use, and check the box that asks 'are you the author'.

During the process, you will need to set up an account with RightsLink. You will be able to use your RightsLink account in the future to request permissions from Springer Nature and from other participating publishers. When your permission has been granted, RightsLink will also email you confirmation of your order including a link to your printable licence.

I hope you will find RightsLink a quick and efficient way of obtaining permissions, however if you encounter issues with your RightsLink account, please contact springernaturesupport@copyright.com

Best regards,

Sara Martínez

[External - Use Caution]

Hello,

My name is Larissa Smith. I am an author in Handbook of East and Southeast Asian Archaeology , Chapter 36 Farmer and Forager Interactions in Southeast Asia

1. Laura Lee Junker & Larissa M. Smith
1. Chapter
2. First Online: 09 December 2017

I am defending my dissertation and used this publication in my thesis. I am requesting permission from the publisher so that I can include the permission in the appendix of my dissertation thesis. You can email the permission to lmsmith4@uic.edu.

Thanks,

Best,
